

I believe that broadband service of BellSouth should continue to be regulated. We have sonic.net as our internet service provider which is one of the companies who helped to build the Internet itself and it should not be wiped away and replaced by large telephone companies